News / Airlines

airBaltic has launched a new product - airBaltic Holidays, offering customers dynamic travel packages, which include both a flight and a hotel reservation.

Martin Gauss, Chief Executive Officer of airBaltic: “As an innovative airline, we always strive to search for new ways to improve the customer experience starting from the booking process. Today, when travelling has become more complex due to various restrictions, we want to offer our customers new seamless ways how to plan their trips.”

The new service is provided in cooperation with Swedish tour operator and travel technology company TripX Travel. Travel packages, which include a selection of thousands of carefully selected hotels, can be booked by visiting <http://airbalticHolidays.com>.

Customers can cancel the trip up to 7 days before departure and get a full refund for the flight and hotel booking, except for the service fee. The service is also secured by EU Package Travel Directive. In addition, customers can earn 5 airBaltic Club points for each euro spent.

This summer airBaltic offers more than 70 direct destinations from Riga, including seven destinations in Italy, seven destinations in Greece and six destinations in Spain in addition to many other leisure destinations.
